Congratulations Farooq.

It is wonderful to receive your email.

Remember we brainstorm first all content before we choose the content by grading it.

Your presenttaion last day was fine, all we wanted was to make it more learner driven and it is good to know you are adding some of these tools to your workshop now.

Take care

Kind regards

Dear sir, How are you, hope this find you good in your health and work, our fun learning is going good, we are applying activities in our sessions and programs, surprisingly we found change in the learning, delivering, content developing and helping people to learn and its boost and raise the bar of our confidence.

Sir, my style is also changing toward unplug style and that provide me opportunity to invite other ideas, listen carefully, answer in question mode, involve participants by asking them and through questions to participants. my session opening and concluding skills are also improving, my boss and participants (my seniors and colleagues) admired and this is great achievement for me.

To involve participants and engage themselves, own formulated activities are also going good, I tried self developed cross word, puzzles, IQ tests, pictures charades etc.... .

I am developing the contents well, but still personally I feel myself some shaky to develop proper material, sources to develop the contents are experience, web, self study, I am plasticizing over there, what I can do better. please suggest way forward.

Sir, please let me know your feedback on the presentation delivered by me on the occasion of Master Trainer last day. I received CD from our company, I worked on the improvable areas, and there is more room to improve, again please let me feedback to improve myself.

Regards,
